

GROW WHAT YOU KNOW INSTRUCTIONAL LEADERSHIP SERIES

Hosted by the Upstate Professional Development Center

NEW!

Session One:

Coaching: How to Maximize Expertise and Resources

Wednesday, Feb. 8, 4pm-5pm

Presented by: Karen Donahue & Mary Ann Margrey

Join as veteran leaders talk about their adventures in accessing, enhancing, and sharing instructional math and literacy expertise with staff through real-time, on-site coaching/peer support. This session is repeated from the RISE Leadership Conference, held in November 2022. Join us if you missed this great session!

Session Two:

Feedback: Giving and Receiving It More Effectively

Thursday, Mar. 2, 4pm-5pm

Have you ever given feedback that was not received well, fell flat, or went unused altogether? Giving and receiving feedback is an integral part of continuous learning. Join us for a session to learn strategies backed by science to help improve both giving and receiving feedback during conversations.

Session Three:

Feedback: Coaching Instructional Practice

Thursday, Mar. 9, 4pm-5pm

Effective feedback, as part of the process of supporting instructional practice, can be a rich experience for both teachers and leaders when it is an engaging two-way conversation. Join us for an interactive session to explore ways to embed feedback into supportive discussions to facilitate professional growth when discussing and implementing instructional strategies for student learning.

Session Four:

Making Teamwork Meaningful

Tuesday, Mar. 21, 4pm-5pm

Leaders, looking to move your professional learning teams from collaboration light to collaboration done right? Join us for a session to learn practical strategies to create meaningful learning teams, empower those teams to overcome difficulties, and focus on the work of ensuring that every student experiences academic success.
